

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

The manuscript documents relating to the history of Nova Scotia were collected, arranged, bound, indexed and catalogued by the late Thomas Beamish Akins, D. C. L., who was appointed Commissioner of Public Records, in accordance with a resolution passed by the House of Assembly on the thirtieth of April, 1857. According to the catalogue prepared by Dr. Akins in 1886, and now out of print, they number over 535 volumes; and there are besides fifty-nine boxes of unbound papers, arranged and indexed. All these are preserved in the Province Building at Halifax, and form the materials for a complete history of the province.

The collection is twofold in character. It consists of original documents, and transcripts of papers from the Public Record Office in London and elsewhere. A selection from them was published at the expense of the province in 1868 by Dr. Akins. It was a stout volume of over 750 pages, and related to the Acadians, the encroachments of French Canada upon Nova Scotia, the Seven Years' War, the founding of Halifax, and the establishment of representative government in 1758. The preface ends with the words, "There are yet many documents of value and interest among our archives worthy of publication."

With this justification, the Nova Scotia Historical Society made representations to the Legislature, which resulted in my appointment to the task of editing another selection from the archives.

The documents chosen are among the very oldest in the possession of the Government. Like all papers not kept in a fire-proof room, they are in danger of destruction; and MS. 20 was noted as in a "damaged condition from damp" when it was catalogued. In all the writing is often very faint; pages are patched and worn, and crumbled in the mere process of turning them over. It is doubtful if they will soon be read again.

The three documents selected, MSS. 14, 15, 20, relate to the internal administration of the province during Walpole's long peace;

they throw light on the experiment of governing a French population by a handful of Englishmen, and the tenacity with which this corner of the continent was held for the empire.

The plan of the fort at Annapolis Royal was enlarged by Mr. Harry Piers, the present Curator, from a map of the town and district in MS. 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ , an uncatalogued volume, added to the collection since 1886. The index states that it was "copied from the original on file in the Public Record Office—London." In one corner is an "Explanation of the Figure," which runs as follows:—"Plan of Annapolis Royall and fort the principall place of Strenght in Nova Scotia in America, its Situation is upon a tongue of land formed on the North East Side by the River Dauphin, and on the South East by a large Morras in 44 Degrees 25 Minuts North Latitude Surrendered to Her Majesties armes under the Command of the Honourable Collonel Francis Nicholson after Eight dayes Siege in October, 1710." Enquiry at the Record Office as to the age, history, etc. of the map proved fruitless; but it is clearly to be dated about the time of the capture. The "Explanation" has references to the place "Where we landed our Cannon & ammunition" and "The Incampment of the Severall Regiments."

The tracing shows the Vauban system of fortification, and preserves the original contour, before the ravelins were added to the south and east.

The abbreviations "A. A." and "N. S. Archives" in the notes both refer to Akins's volume of selections mentioned above.

The index has been made full in the hope of lightening the labour of other students of history, who may consult this volume.

GOVERNOR'S LETTER-BOOK, ANNAPOLIS.

1713-1717.

NOTE. This document is no. 15 of the Akins catalogue, and is entered, p. 6, "1714-1717. Original Letter Book kept at Annapolis between 1713 and 1717, rebound in Russia, small folio." The book consists of 48 leaves, neither numbered nor indexed; and the entries are mainly in two styles of penmanship, first a rapid, straggling, slanting hand, very difficult to read, and afterwards a small, careful, square hand, more clerkly in character. Many of the pages are frayed, and deeply stained; and the writing is often faint.

Great advantage to the colony in clearing wood. No har- 1713 (H) bor within two leagues of the coal mine, and no vessel can be loaded without grounding; no boat can land for the sea. No credit to be given to soldiers within or without the garrison, but they are in debt already. Chief trade is with Indians along the coast. Boston merchants undersell ours. This must be stopped if we are to have any correspondence with them (the Indians), who only come here when driven by necessity. Caulfeild disposes the gain among the inhabitants for bread. Newton's account to "Yr. Excellency" shows that C. has made him acquainted with the state of the garrison. Hopes to answer questions in regard to provisions in his Ex-

1. The name is spelt "Caulfield" in Akins (Nova Scotia Archives) Murdoch, Kingsford, Calnek, and all who have followed their authority; but there seems to be little or no justification for it. It is never unmistakably so spelt in this letter-book, but "Caulfeild," even when it is the name of a vessel [20] and in one case [17] the "i" has been inserted before the "e," after the name was written. The difference, though apparently slight, is really important as a means of identifying this governor. This is the way the family name of the house of Charlemont is spelt; and this circumstance would seem to show that Govr. Caulfeild was a cadet of that house. It is curious to note that a sloop was plying about this coast at that time called the Charlemont. The matter is put beyond doubt by his reference [36] to General Carpenter and "my brothers," and immediately after to "my Uncle." This is evidently Gen. Carpenter (1657-1732) who served with Peterborough in Spain, as did Wm. Caulfeild, the second Viscount Charlemont, and apparently our governor, who refers [28] to having known James, the first Earl Stanhope in Spain. He married Alice, daughter of the first Viscount Charlemont and sister of the second. Lt.-Gov. Caulfeild must therefore have been a son of the second viscount or of one of his brothers.—See Dict. Nat. Biog.

Although the beginning, date, name of addressee and place of writing are wanting, it seems pretty plain that it was written to Nicholson from Annapolis.

1713 (9) cellency's letters of Oct. 25th, in another letter. Capt. Douglas has explained to "Yr. Excellency" his reasons for not going to Boston as ordered. Recommended as "haveing allways behaved himselfe as becometh a Gentellman to doe." Proceedings of Mr. Vane's court-martial enclosed. French sloop with cargo of rum and molasses from West Indies, entered and cleared by Col. Vetch, but driven back by stress of weather, found to be in ballast. Account of this forwarded by Newton. C. has ordered the inhabitants to make road on both sides of the river (Annapolis). They show much willingness.

1714. Bill of lading enclosed for molasses, pork and beef for garrison at Annapolis; Slocum to sail this week or next. John Borland was to furnish provisions to garrison till end of April. N. supposes he sends some by his sloop, Capt. John Alden, master. N. treating with Borland for 3000 pieces of pork, to be sent with the other provisions Sir Chas. Hobby intends for Annapolis in his sloop (Slocum, master). Care to be taken of the supplies. Capoon to keep an exact account, as Her Majesty "hath been Notoriously cheated in this Artickle of Provvtions." Mr. Hutchisson not to furnish provisions at the old rate. Hopes they will not cost above  $7\frac{1}{2}$ d. N. England currency, whereas they have been charged at  $7\frac{1}{2}$ d. stg. Officer to be appointed to oversee distribution of food to the gunner and matrosses. Hutchisson not to furnish them with clothing until further orders from the Board of Ordnance. N. has written to the B. of O. and Fran. Lynn "our agent" on the affairs of the garrison; and will do his best for the garrison without any reference to his own interest. The wheat and pease must be secured for the garrison, so that none be permitted to go out of the country. Hibbert Newton is earnestly recommended to C. Governor Dudley's proclamation in regard to trade with the Indians enclosed. Col. Vetch ran away from hence on Monday night. N. has sufficient proof on oath, V.'s own papers, etc., that he has acted arbitrarily and illegally, <sup>1714</sup> assuming powers he had no right to, and cheating the Govt. by appointing officers for which he had no authority. "I find he hath vsed all ways and means to Cheate her Majty and her Subjects in the affairs of the Garrison as far as itt was possible for him to do." N. objects to C.'s bills of credit; no more to be issued; and a strict account to be kept of those already circulated. Sends by Sir Chas. Hobby 5 or £600 N. England currency, which he has borrowed for expenses of garrison. Recommends economy in the repair of the fortifications, and that soldiers be employed for the work. Garrison must be provided with firing. Would be glad to serve Winniett, but cannot allow my office, much less a salary not provided by commission. If Vetch writes for certificates of good conduct, he is to be prevented from obtaining them, in all lawful ways. Alden to be examined on oath as to what papers he brings with him; they are to be opened in the presence of the addressees, and all relating to Vetch or the affairs of the garrison are to be detained, and copies given. If V. insinuates that N. has some design against the garrison, no credit is to be given to "such a Lying fellow." No more sutlers to be allowed in the fort or town; soldiers to have little or no credit; officers not to involve themselves in debt. Will write again by Hobby, Alden is in haste to sail.

Hopes that letters sent by Simpson arrived. Number of <sup>Oct. 11.</sup> sutlers reduced from eleven to six; if further reduction is de- <sup>Annapolis.</sup> sired, let it be known. Magazines of ordnance cannot be examined until the weather is more favorable. Hutchisson's return of stores on hand, and of those furnished by Borland, enclosed. Garrison in want of food, as shown by Capoon's 1714. return enclosed. Reduced to fresh<sup>1</sup> provisions, poor in quality and extremely difficult to get. Muster rolls which were sent, possibly not very satisfactory; wishes more definite instructions on the subject. He sent another set of Capt. Williams' compy. at latter's request, who wishes others to be returned. Begs time to consider question of prices (which are extravagant) and regulation of trade. Shall take care that no traders are suffered here without license. Vane and Hutchisson's account of garrison expenses enclosed. Vetch best judge of these as he was governor then. Since last despatch, sloop has arrived from Minas with wheat and pease for the garrison.

receipt for £600 "Boston money" with list of numbers, for 1714 purchase of flour and pease among the French. Must proportion the bread to the meat and keep an exact account of what the Commissary receives and gives out. Issues must be made in the presence of an officer or two appointed by Caulfeild. Remainder of £600 may be spent for the good of the garrison; but an exact account must be kept. Has discussed the bills, the affairs of the garrison, particularly Col. Vetch's, with Sir Chas. Hobby, and given him copies of many papers. Hobby wishes information from Caulfeild about V.'s debts. C. is to assist in all lawful ways. Hopes that the stores have been inspected by Hutchisson and Vane; and also the fort. Copy of Wm. Clear's petition enclosed; if true, he is to be restored to gunner's place, one of the N. England gunners reduced to a matross, and the youngest of them broke. N. has let Clear have 44 sh. "Boston money" and clothing. If reinstated, he is to have clothing from stores. Jno. Nettmaker writes by this conveyance and sends acct. of clothing on Sir Chas. Hobby's sloop. Nicholson will consent to their sending officers to Gt. Britain on the affairs of the garrison. Hopes that C. and the soldiers will be easy until the affairs are settled. H. M. S. Phoenix arrived two days ago. N. hopes to go to Annapolis in her within a month.

May 27. Acknowledges receipt of clothing per "Sea-flower," (Slo-Annapolis. comb, master); has stored it with rest of stores formerly sent by N. Will issue them to troops as needed or dispose of them to the French inhabitants if possible, but the goods are not suitable, will be of little use in purchasing grain, etc. C. has learned that the same stores are sold at a cheaper rate at Boston (N. E. currency) than their first cost sterling, as per account enclosed. Always has a reasonable advance in order to make good such supplies as are "damnified." Has taken receipts for all such stores as are delivered to captains for their companies, or to "Gentellmen here in Garrison" to be accountable for the same at such price as shall be set by "his Excellency or YrSelfe." "A great many of each Species damnified particularly ye Sargants and Centinells Stockings which are Rotten and vaeless," as seen by enclosed acct.

May 27. Acknowledges receipt of letter of Ap. 6, per Capt. John Annapolis. Alden, also N.'s of the 22nd by Sir Chas. Hobby. Has had provisions surveyed; and ordered an officer from each company to be present each serving-day. Has told Hutchisson to take up provisions for the gunners and matrosses as the troops do: and not to furnish them with clothing or advance money on their pay without orders. Encloses Capoon's account of provisions in store. Has given Hibbert Newton all assistance in regard to the seizures here. Has received Govr. Dudley's proclamation regarding the Indian trade. Cannot hear of any furs, etc., being brought to Annapolis this winter. Will use all zeal in promoting this trade, if only definite instructions are given. Letter from priest at Minas, and Indian chief en-1714. closed, showing their opinions. French complain that they are not allowed to go to Minas with their vessels for corn for their families and fisheries. Has lent several of the poor corn, as they have sown what they had. More land reported sown this year at Minas and here than ever before. The information that Vetch commanded here after Caulfeild arrived is false: the only compliment C. paid him being the parole and a guard: C. took the affairs of the province into his hands at once. Begs N. to advise him of insinuations against his (C.'s) character proceeding from Annapolis. Obligated to issue the bills by the absolute necessity of the garrison; has kept strict account of the numbers, species, etc., of them. Firing for the garrison has been well managed: only 28 cords per week consumed for the six months winter, instead of 60. Each capt. and company have been provided with a boat to get their wood in, the season now permitting it. Has secured all the letters sent by Vetch, but cannot find that he has written for certificates. Nothing shall make him believe anything in regard to N.'s intentions, except N.'s own statements. Has allowed no more sutlers in this town and garrison. Encloses statement of Geo. Vane's behavior towards C. Sends papers by Sir Chas. Hobby. Survey of provisions supplied by Belcher, by captains and Hutchisson for two serving-days enclosed; ordered similar survey of provisions supplied by Borland: no return of latter being made, required Jno. and Wm. Alden to examine and report on them; copy of report enclosed. Capoon ordered to issue them regularly. Has received the £600: his accts. will bear the strictest examination. Hutchisson's survey of the garrison enclosed; but has not been able to obtain survey of stores, although ordered. Wm. Clear is made gunner and has had clothing delivered to him. Has written Nettmaker in regard to the clothing; none issued as yet. Returns N.'s estimates for the garrison with mistakes noted: "as allsoe to informe you how the Garrison hath been victualled one man each Serving day, and to Shew you the price of y<sup>e</sup> bread by y<sup>e</sup> best Calculation I Could make of itt." Encloses Alden's representation regarding wheat he bought at 1714 Minas for the garrison, and copy of letter written to Govr. of Canada on behalf of Jno. Adams. Trading at Beaubassin, his vessel was seized by French Indians, while the inhabitants were planting their corn. Priest of Beaubassin informs C. that except for the interference of the inhabitants and local Indians, the vessel would have been burnt and the cargo carried off. Adams's loss computed to be about £70. Has used all arguments to induce the officers to send deputation home to look after the affairs, but find them "not Inclinaire."

July 3, Detained in Boston by the Queen's service: but he and Boston. Govr. Dudley intend to be at Piscataqua on the 21st, to meet the Eastern Indians; expect to reach Annapolis by end of July or beginning of August. Encloses three bills of lading for molasses and pork. That shipped by Borland included in his last acct.: that shipped per Jno. Alden and Wm. Walters is from Andrew and Jonathan Belcher: their account of foregoing and letter also enclosed. Pork and molasses scarce; prices likely to rise. C. to pursue same method with these as before, and must secure enough wheat to supply the whole garrison until the new wheat is ready. In B. wheat is scarce and dear. Then C. may let Alden and Walters bring what they have: must agree with them as to price at so much per bushel N. England currency at 60 per cent. advance; and may draw bills at 30 days for said sum upon Francis Lynn, agent. Account of wheat, price of it, and statement for what service must accompany bills. Repairs to the fortifications to be considered by council of officers with engineer and storekeeper: best and cheapest bargain must be made for what is absolutely necessary. As to his own affair, C. is to rest easy; justice will be done him. C.'s method of obtaining firing approved.

C. is to assure the inhabitants of Minas that justice will be done them; they may dispose of their wheat as they please when the garrison is first supplied. People of the river may have it brought, or may send for it. Let the Indians know that they will be taken care of, and what we have done with the Eastern Indians. Sir Chas. Hobby has gone to G. B. Hopes C. has sent a full and just account of his affairs home by him. Still hopes that officers will send deputation home to represent their case. Nettmaker writes and sends acct. of clothing. Hopes C. will dispose of some of it to the inhabitants and Indians. Trade with the latter to be regulated in the best interests of the Queen and the garrison. Hopes to have an acct. from C. of the French govt. in Cape Breton. N. expects to hear from Lt.-Col. Moody at Placentia, who took possession about the 11th of May. N. Sends the public news; C. is to make it as public as possible. N. expects daily a ship from London with continuance of good news. C. not to be uneasy about Vetch commanding the garrison after C. had his commission. N. will adjust the affairs with him. Encloses Borland's account and Capoon's. Sent by Capt. Alden, who has called for N's letters, so cannot write to him (Capoon?) or Newton, but will do so by Walters, who sails on Monday.

Aug. 2, Acknowledges receipt of N.'s letters of July 3rd per Alden Annapolis. and duplicate per Walters. The provisions agree with the numbers and descriptions. Encloses Capoon's account of provisions: sufficient wheat for next year. Has allowed Alden 600 bushels "in proportion to w<sup>t</sup> he brought here": will do the same for Walters. As N. is coming soon, C. will draw no more bills for wheat. After consulting the officers of the garrison, all agreed that the two breaches on the N. E. side were the first that should be repaired: Hutchisson's report on the same enclosed. C. will write to Minas and other places concerning the assurance that justice will be done the inhabitants and Indians. Did not write by Sir Chas. Hobby because C. wished to consult Nicholson. Has received clothing from Nettmaker; will do what he can to dispose of it. Has not heard from Govr. of Canada; has heard that "Mons<sup>r</sup> La Round" is on his way to Annapolis. Nothing is "regulated" at Cape Breton yet; they have designed (but not built) two forts: there are only about 50 inhabitants, who have suffered for want of provisions and are likely to continue so. A Mr. Ferguson is here with power of attorney from Borland to adjust account: C. will do so. As for Capoon's accounts, Caulfeild never saw them or knew that he intended to send them until Nicholson returned them. The item of cartridge in Capoon's accounts, Caulfeild knows nothing of: has never used it. Did not consult with Vane for these reasons: V. would insist upon a NOTE. Apparently several leaves are here missing. At the top of [19] occur some lines which seem to be a part of a postscript of a letter from Caulfeild to Nicholson, to this effect: C. would have sent the ordnance account, but the master gunner reports that it was made up until Vane went away, nothing material has occurred since, is expecting orders from the Board, and he will do it all in one.

Certificate shows at what price the French buy the same clothing from "y<sup>e</sup> New England people," who bought them for much less of Gen. Nicholson. H. can judge that the rates to us are excessive. Desires directions therein, the officers and soldiers being informed thereof (this sharp practice?) and think the hardships too great.

 some places to the eastward, which have already declared for the French King. Inhabitants being mostly French, refuse the oaths and to quit the country. C. wishes instructions how to act. Methods of supplying must be changed, if this garrison is to live through the coming winter. The French who used to maintain the garrison with corn are most of them quitting the country, especially at Minas, the chief corn plantation: C.

(1) The following extract (MS. 6, No. 13) explains the "solemnity."

Annapolis Royal in the 1715. Refers to letter of Dec. 25 giving account of proclaiming May 3. George I with all the solemnity C. was capable of. Reports of Button and Capoon were enclosed: navigation at that season obstructed. From reports, it appears the French intend to quit the colony and refuse the oaths. Begs leave to acquaint their lordships of their want of payment and provisions. Commissary's return enclosed shows provisions in store "by which itt plainly appears The Streights wee are putt to, having Lived a Considerable Time on half allowance, and am att This Time obliged To Send a Sloop To represent our Case To y<sup>e</sup> Gov<sup>mtt</sup> of New England."

1715.
Nov. 1.
Annapolis.

Acknowledges receipt of their letter of July 22, by ship laden with nine months' provisions at short allowance. According to their Lordship's directions, C. will set down the best information and accounts he is capable of in reference to this colony: soil, quantity of grains, stocks and sorts of cattle, masts, pitch, furs, mines, timber for ship-building, number and condition of the French inhabitants, the Indians of Penobscot, St. John's river and Cape Sables; and the present state of Cape Breton. Three places principally inhabited by the French, "Annapolis Royal, Minis, and checanectou." Annapolis the "Metropolis" has rich sound soil, produces 10,000 bushels grain, chiefly wheat, some rye, oats and barley. Oxen and cows, about 2000, sheep about 2000, hogs about 1000. Mastig can be had with difficulty; pitch has been frequently made. Forty thousand weight of furs have been taken out each season since the reduction of this place. "Mines none."

Fishery on the coast much the most valuable in N. A.: depends mostly on the easterly coast. C. has it "from very good hands" that New England takes in one season above 100,000 "Kentalls" of fish over and above what the inhabitants take and sell to our merchants. Great quantities of timber for ship-building "and reputed to be Good." Bason is our harbor, and the river "Yeilds Vast Conveniencyes". Country produces all sorts and great quantities of fish, such as "Bass Cod: Large Shatt, Herring, Thom Codds. with great Store of flatt fish." Thousands of vessels could find safe anchorage in the Basin at all seasons: about 300 able men in this part of the colony, of whom 90 have families.

"Minis" is 30 leagues N. E. from this place: much the best improved part of the colony: plain country, fertile soil, produces over 20,000 bushels, mostly wheat with pease, rye and barley, which is their principal branch of trade. They have at present, oxen and cows about 3,000, sheep about 4000, hogs about 2000. No mastig; pitch is made there and sold at cheaper rates than what is got from New England.

1. Handwriting changes again to No. 2.

Considerable quantity of furs brought in by the Indians and <sup>1716</sup> sold by the French to our traders. Copper mines there of which the inhabitants make spoons, candlesticks and other necessities. They have between 30 and 40 sail of vessels, built by themselves, which they employ in fishing. Their harbors are but indifferent: there are about 500 men, of which 200 are settled inhabitants.

"Checanectou" is situate N. about 30 leagues away; a low country, used mostly for raising black and white cattle. Were supplied from C. in our necessity with about 70 bbls. of extraordinary good beef. The greatest resort for the Penobscot and St. John's Indians, who barter to the French great quantities of furs and feathers for provisions. Oxen and cows about 1,000, sheep about 1,000, hogs about 800, corn to support their families (about 50), computed to be 6,000 bushels. Very good coal mines there, which have formerly been used by this garrison. Mastings may be had there, but the best places are "Pesmeocoddy Mages and St John," for masts of all sizes and with rivers for the embarkation of them. N. from here about 14 leagues.

Harbors to the eastward from this place to the "Gutt of Canco, beginning at Pugmacou<sup>1</sup> Cape Sables, Port Rossway, La-Have, Marligash, Chebuctou, Bay of Vert, Restubuctou &c. to y<sup>e</sup> Gutt of Canco." Mastings to be had, with convenient water carriage; but few inhabitants in any of them. They are accounted good harbors, resorted to by N. E. fishermen and ours on all occasions, and are capable of improvement, "especially La Have Port Rossway, and chebuctou, being most Convenient for trade and fortification." Canso recommended particularly, because it has the richest fisheries, and the French design building a fort at St. Peter's not above seven leagues away; which will make it impossible to protect British vessels.

If<sup>2</sup> the French remain in this country, it will tend to its improvement: their numbers are considerable, and if they quit us we strengthen the enemy. Though we may not expect

1. Last letter doubtful: written above in black ink, "Pobomcoup."

2. A large part of what follows is printed in full, but not accurately, A. A. 8-10, for instance, "in case they quitt us will still strengthen," (p. 8 foot) reads in the original "in case they quitt Us, Wee Still strengthen, etc."

1715. much benefit from them, their children may "be brought to our Constitution." As there are well-meaning people among them we can always guard ourselves from injury. Since coming here C. has always observed their willingness "to Serve Us, when Occasion offered." Some English laborers, tar and pitch makers, carpenters, and smiths sent over would be a great advantage. If the French leave, we shall never be able to protect our English families from the insults of the Indians, "y<sup>e</sup> Worst of Enemyes." From their stocks of cattle, with due encouragement, the colony could be in a short time self-supporting.

The Penobscot, St John's and Cape Sables Indians trade chiefly along their several coasts with fur and feathers, but never come here except when driven by necessity, alleging as their reason that there are no king's magazines here, as in the time of the French and as there is now at Cape Breton. Believes it would be of great advantage to establish such a magazine not only for the sake of trade, but as a means of winning the Indians to the British interest "by kindly using of them, on w<sup>ch</sup> formation their friendship is wholly founded." Encloses copy of letter from the Penobscot Indians, written by their priest and translated into English, and C.'s answer to it.

Cape Breton: "its soil is no way valuable being intirely a Rock covered over with Moss": little or no timber of any manner of use, spruce and low pine being the chief growths. C. informed by several of the inhabitants of Annapolis who went to C. B. during Nicholson's administration, that the land is not improved or capable of improvement. Last year their fishery was good; but this year a failure; of 70 or 80 sail, only 8 or 10 got their freight. Reported that there is no advance towards raising a fortification, and not one cannon mounted: "One Costabell" is governor, and has about 300 regulars. Two points N. W. of the Cape, which they intend to fortify strongly, "Called St: Anns and Peters." points most advantageous for them and dangerous for us: in case of war, we shall not be able to protect our vessels, "St Anns, and Peters, being y<sup>e</sup> Keys to our Eastern Coast" Placentia cannot help us as much as C. B. can injure us. Encloses maps of the 1715.

"Islands of Cape Breton and bay of ffundy."

Nicholson's visit: N. sent C. several letters from Boston, asking C.'s opinion of the garrison, which C. answered punctually. N. and Burchfeild, surveyor-general, appointed Hibbert Newton collector of this port. Newton showed C. a letter from Nicholson (dated Boston, Ap. 6, 1714) ordering that no vessel was to go to any port without a customs officer, whereby "the whole Trade of the Colony was Stopp'd near four Months," though Nicholson knew that no customs officer but Newton had been appointed. C. wrote to N. several times, "On that head," pointing out the hardships the people of Annapolis suffered, who had corn at Minas and other ports, but were not allowed to go and fetch it for the use of their families. N. answered that if C. had sufficient provisions for the garrison (though N. told C. what quantity he proposed) the inhabitants and others might dispose of the remainder as they thought fit. The reason publicly given for this conduct was that Alden and other traders would not conform to N.'s opinion regarding Vetch. On N.'s arrival at Annapolis the following Aug., he assured the garrison of his favor and interest, though at the same time, he stopt our pay at home, injured our credit at Boston, drove some of the French out of the country, shut the gates of the garrison against those that remained and declared them traitors, though he knew the garrison must depend upon their help during the coming winter or perish: when he returned to Boston, he left us unprovided for in every respect. It would be "too troublesome" to recount all N.'s "Means and Methods"; nothing done for the service of the country or the garrison, but simply a series of schemes to ruin Vetch and his friends.

Obliged to acquaint the Board with the frequent complaints of Capt. Armstrong's misbehavior "towards several Inhabitants here." Complaints will be transmitted in next.

By same ship, C. had letter from Board of Trade, ordering him to transmit an account of the colony: has done so, and hopes it will be satisfactory. Gen. Carpenter acquainted C. of Stanhope's kind "Interposition in my favor." Thanks him. Shirreff, who was formerly in this garrison and is now H. M.'s commissary, tells him that Nicholson has injured his character. C. has known S. four years, and considers him perfectly fit for his post. Encloses Lieut. Jeffreyson's memorial of his 1715. sufferings since the establishment of this govt. "w<sup>ch</sup> must be Confessed Extremely severe." Nov. 1.

Annapolis. Since his last to the S. of W., of June 6, a vessel has arrived from the Victualling Office, with nine months' provisions at short allowance.

Clark the Boston merchant, who supplied us in our necessity, assures us that it is with difficulty he can get Gordon, formerly our agent, to accept our bills; G. pretending that they are not drawn in proper form. Caulfeild has always drawn them in form prescribed by Nicholson, (except once, and C. advised Gordon of the error). Wants a stop put to this; and that Lynn or Gordon be ordered to make payments "without using such Equivocations." They have had our money in their hands a considerable time, without sending any abstracts or accounts; whereby we are "Incapable of drawing for our Personal Subsistance." Informed that it is partly if not entirely Nicholson's doing. Consequence is great hardship: what clothing N. left or sent us is bad and dear. Sends by this conveyance a specimen of each article of clothing, with the price affixed "to demonstrate our Usage." Coats were sold to moor at 6s. and charged to us at 21s. At this time there are neither shoes, stockings nor watch coats in store to keep 1715.

our men from perishing this winter: "and to excuse his Neglect of ye Garrison represents us as useless."

On Oct. 26 ordered Ens. Eskin, senior ensign "to take Post accordingly": other ensigns objected, wished a court-martial, which was held, and decided in their favor. Erskin's memorial enclosed to be laid before the Board of Gen. Officers.

Encloses Lieut. Jeffreyson's "Memorial of his Sufferings fessed extreamly Severe:" C. recommends him to the Secty.'s most favorable consideration.

price affixed: W. will perceive the excessive rates charged.
Mr. Moore one of the Lord Commissioners of Trade having paid but 6 or 7 shillings per coat, "and soe in proportion for ye: other Species."

When C. first received the clothing from Nicholson, N. told him that it was crown property and that "if any Officer should presume to make use of any other than ye: said Clothing he would have that Officer or Officers soe Offending Broke."
Soon after, N. was selling the same clothing in Boston at half prices. Besides N. stopt their pay at home, ruined their credit at Boston, and, to cover his neglect, represents this place as not worth maintaining.

1715. As to mismanagement, all former drafts were made by Nicholson's orders and directions. Has written to the Secretary of War to say that neither Gordon nor Lynn ever sent any "Abstract" to the garrison, which made it impossible to draw their personal pay.

C. wishes M. to get the garrison's accounts from "them Gentlemen, and as well their reasons for not informing of Us" what money they had of ours. Their conduct unprecedented. Encloses bills for amount, though he has "not as Yett made use nor Examined" the goods : hopes they will be punctually paid.
Has done C. Justice at home and informed the Secty. of War.
of the agent's retarding payment of bills.

Has not sent bills in settlement of his private account, because Shireff who was sent home to settle Caulfeild's private affairs, and returns this winter as Commissary, wishes C. to defer drawing any further bills until his arrival. Wishes Clark therefore to give him time; will send him by first opportunity bills for £100 stg. Information Clark had (probably from Franklyn) is wrong: the opposite the case. Has allowed "Blynn" for the freight Clark has charged; wishes C. to deduct the amount £10 15s. from next invoice. Victualling Office has sent no beer, and C. therefore orders 20 hhds, molasses for the use of the garrison.

him. Orders "One Pipe of Green Wine two barrells of Rum

Surprised that Gordon did not inform M. of this custom, and also as to the proper form of drafts. If M. does not take great care, the garrison will suffer extremely.

Encloses Ensign Button's order to stop £20 of his pay yearly for the maintenance of his wife. If the garrison pay for their provisions, M. is to retain enough to discharge the commissary's certificate of provisions Button received at Annapolis.

Jeffreyson and Cross (on half pay) enclose provision ac-it to the proper office for stoppage.

Encloses Capt. Williams' bill for subsistence for £51. 3s.

Duplicate of former letter enclosed. Since that date, several of the French inhabitants driven out by Nicholson have returned: others will follow. Hears that the French at Cape Breton have suffered for want of provisions and many died. Would have been worse off, if Boston traders had not supplied them; hears that near a thousand vessels of all sorts will be employed in the fishery next season; that there is a very great resort of traders there from all parts of France; and that the regulars are moved to St. Peter's and St. Ann's, to work on the fortifications.

Encloses Winniett's letter and memorial: assures the Board that W. has been of very great service to the garrison, and his behavior did not in the least deserve such treatment from Capt. Armstrong.

1716. To inform T. of "the many dangers Wee lye under Occasioned by ye desertion of our Men in such Numbers as will in a very little time Oblige Us to be subject to most Emminent Dangers." Requests T. to send the ship of War "that Attends Your Coast to make a small Cruise towards Le Have." Deserters said to be among the fishermen: their apprehension will not only prevent future desertions, but put a stop to those going on. Hopes T. will order the fishermen not to harbor the deserters: "if not prevented may Occasion y<sup>e</sup> Desolotion of this Place." Shirreff, the bearer of this, will inform T. that Ensign Prendergast or a sergeant who knows the men will embark on the man-of-war. Promises to reciprocate when service is needed.

Hopes his last of June 12 has reached Clark: acknowledges receipt of Clark's of June 11. According to Clark's request, has communicated latter's letter to the officers of the garrison, who "seem to be very sensible of y<sup>e</sup> Ill treat<sup>mt</sup> in y<sup>e</sup> non Paym<sup>t</sup> of Your Bills", and urged Caulfeild to "imforme You not to Send any farther Supply of Provisions untill You heard from me by w<sup>ch</sup> Opportunity as the Troubles are now at an End there," their drafts will 'be more readily honored. Hopes matters will be arranged to the satisfaction of both parties; has often urged Clark's services upon the authorities. Dec. 24. Acknowledges receipt of S. of W.'s despatch dated Aug. 10, 1716, by "Mr. Jno. Harrison our Chaplain who arrived here in a Sloop with the Cloathing from Boston" on Nov. 1. Soldiers must have perished for want of it, "considering they have noe Manner of Bedding." Clothing delivered to the four independent cos.: captains' receipts for same enclosed. Burges' report of strength and condition of fortifications enclosed: "onely I observe that those Bastions where the breaches are expected have hitherto never required any reparation." No report of ordnance stores transmitted, because season of year does not permit it. According to best information, there are 900 or 1000 able-bodied Frenchmen in the several parts of the colony. On receipt of the S. of W.'s letter, C. again summoned them to take the oaths: sends their answers herewith. Will enquire into the sentiments of those 1716. more remote, as soon as the season permits. C. has changed his opinion of them, little reliance to be placed on their friendship; but they will leave the country with reluctance; those who had gone out, have returned; for permanent improvement, English inhabitants are absolutely necessary. Strength of the four independent cos. : C.'s, 55 men; Williams', 65; Armstrong's, 43; Aldridge's, 66; or 219<sup>1</sup> in all. These, if recruited and kept full, with the assistance of the train, are necessary to hold the place in peace and war. Affairs of garrison have been so confused and lessened the exchange of bills that they have been frequently compelled to dispose of them, for bare necessities, at much less than par: hopes this will justify non-payment of Mr. Manby, Judge Advocate, or any other charges until credit is better and exchange higher. Account of "y<sup>e</sup> Canada Cloathing" shows how it has been disposed of and what remains in store: remnant "Soe much damnified" as to be worth little or nothing. Had C. not disposed of it to the gentlemen of the garrison, whose necessities forced them to buy it, the king would have lost more than one-third discount allowed on first cost," for w<sup>ch</sup> we do all return o<sup>r</sup> Most hearty Thanks." Provisions came for garrison by "King George" on Oct. 11 last; found by survey to be good "Save what appears to be otherways." Allowing for what is said to be on the "Prince of Wales," C. finds wanting only 56 lbs. biscuit, 3 galls. oatmeal and 9 $\frac{3}{4}$  pints oil in lieu of butter to complete 6 mos. provisions for 371 men, full allowance. Accounts of this and former supply sent by "Prince Frederick," Oct. 25, 1715; and of the New England provisions, expended since balancing of accounts, sent by Borland from May 1, 1714, to Dec. 23, 1715, "both days Inclusive" from which date the British account begins, both in Capon's time ending, May 4, 1716 and Shirreff's time from latter date till Oct. 23, 1716, with estimate of how far provisions in store will bring the garrison, have been sent to Secretary Stanhope, in response to his command, dated May 6, 1716. C. would now have forwarded duplicates, if time permitted, the winter is far advanced and the sloop pressing.

Transmits accounts of all moneys spent and received, signed by captains of their respective companies. Will take care to transmit muster-rolls with as much strictness and exactness as opportunity offers.

Capt. Lawrence Armstrong and Ensign Tho. Button have been absent from garrison, on leave since Nov. 5, 1715, "and that by a furlow from my Selfe," dated June 8, 1715. Francis Spellman, fort-major allowed six mos. leave to go home, on his private affairs. Manby also had four mos. leave for the same reason, to go to Boston (N. E.) from May 10, 1716. C. has extended his leave, (at M.'s request) three mos. Neither have returned. C. has ordered Manby and Capon both home.

Has informed Ens. Erskine and the rest how their case has been decided, and they take rank accordingly. C. has always followed Nicholson's rules and orders: if any further instructions are judged necessary, he will inform the S. of W.: has received the Acts of Parliament, Articles of War and the other instructions.

reply to C. as soon as possible that his (M.'s) answer may be transmitted to the Secretary of War. Encloses paragraph from S. of W.'s letter, and C.'s answer to it.

Extract from S. of W.'s letter:—His majesty being informed that Mr. Manby who was sent out as Deputy Judge Advocate has received no pay out of the credits arising by the exchange of the pay of the garrison, which was judged sufficient to meet this and other charges not provided for by the establishment, C. is required to give reasons why the intended fund is deficient, and in case he thinks they are such as will justify the non-payment of so small a charge as the pay of a Deputy Judge Advocate, C. is to order M. home.

C.'s answer to above: Difficulties of garrison due to confused state of things at home, which has so lessened the exchange of public and private bills, that we have been frequently obliged to dispose of them at much less than par, to support ourselves and the troops, "whose provisions hitherto amounts to considerably More then there pay." Therefore they do feel justified in not paying Manby and the other charges, until their credit is better and exchange higher than at present "by a more punctuall compliance with o<sup>r</sup> Bills at home."

 with statement of bills and money drawn by C. "proportion-possibly could." If anything further is needed to settle the affairs of garrison, C. hopes it will be found at home, for former dates by Harrison, who arrived here Nov. 15, with the clothing for the troops, forwarded in sloop from Boston. Clothing gives considerable satisfaction: only one sergeant's coat and two private's waistcoats being damaged, contrary to expectations; for the vessel was much shattered, having been almost wrecked in the passage. Provisions came per "King George," Oct. 11. last: accounts sent to Sec. of State; and to M.'s office,<sup>1</sup> with account of "Canada Cloathing possibly permitted, dated to Aug. 10, 1716. Hopes affairs will be settled: accounts clear, considering how many have been concerned in them and how long they have been outstanding. If anything is omitted, will M. please supply it that the garrison "may noe longer Lye under those inSup-

Soon after D.'s arrival here, on Oct. 28, he was informed that the French inhabitants had never "own'd his Majesty as Possessor of this his Continent of Nova Scotia & Lacadie." :<sup>2</sup> D. therefore summoned the people to sign one of papers enclosed, promising same liberty and protection as the other inhabitants enjoyed, if they complied: if not, he could not let their vessels pass the fort to trade or fish along the coast. On which they drew up the other paper enclosed, which D. wishes were cleaner, but as ship was ready to sail had not time to get another signed. Many would sign rather than lose the fishing season, if it were not for the priests, who, seeing the plight of the garrison and weakness of the fort, tell their people that the Pretender will soon be settled in England and the province handed back to France. To cover their disobedience to King George, they pretend fear of the Indians, which is impossible, as the Indians here are entirely ruled by the French, who treat them like slaves. If orders could be sent from France to the governors of Canada and Cape Breton to suppress and severely punish any Indians or others who insulted the inhabitants of Nova Scotia, and copies of these orders sent to Annapolis and distributed among the French, it would tend to bring the French in. The place would be improved and the garrison would not lack cattle, grain and other necessities, as at present.

GOVERNOR'S LETTER-BOOK, ANNAPOLIS.

NOTE: This document is entered thus in the Akins catalogue, p. 6. "14. 1719-1742.—Original Letter Book of the Governors at Annapolis, containing letters to the Board of Trade and Secretary of State, with Letters addressed to the French Deputies &c., &c., from January 2, 1719, to June 8, 1742, bound in Vellum, folio." The document consists of 149 leaves, paged from 1 to 216, unpagged to 264: follows a blank page; and then come six pages (indicated) of papers signed by Philipps, but reversed, beginning at the end of the book. Then come five columns of index (contemporary) carried as far as p. 187. The book though stained in places is in a good state of preservation, except for the pencil marks and scribbling of some ungrammatical transcriber. The handwriting is large and fair, and at first the lines and margins have been ruled, the pages numbered, and the contents of each letter indicated at the side; a great contrast in all these respects to MS. 15. Some part of it has been already printed in the "Nova Scotia Archives"; wherever this has been done, the fact is noted.

After all that has been done at the court of France, the priests and Jesuits will remain an obstacle to our happiness, especially Vincent and Felix, governors of Minas and Chignecto. Will publish the King's gracious intentions, but the best argument will be a reinforcement of troops. Garrison at Annapolis only five weak companies; cannot detach any force against them. Three companies should be brought from Placentia, and works strengthened. Population computed at above four hundred families, and very prolific. French have been fishing at Canso with guard, best fishing in the King's dominions. Presents for the Indians should be sent on forthwith. Surveyors for N. May 26. Arrived here in the middle of April after wintering at Boston. Garrison found in good condition except a few old men ;
Annapolis. but fortifications bad. Several practicable breaches which ten men might enter abreast.<sup>1</sup> Visited three days after arrival by priest at head of one hundred and fifty men. Made him read proclamation. Priest stated that in Gen. Nicholson's time the people had agreed to remain subjects of France and retire to Cape Breton ; they also feared the Indians. They can march off at their leisure, as the garrison is too weak to prevent them. Next day sent proclamation to priest to read to his congregation. Prompt answer returned. King's Council chosen, which ordered six deputies to be chosen to represent the inhabitants. Priest went to Minas the same night that he sent the letter. Two of the six deputies rejected as having no effects or possessions to lose. Inhabitants refused to alter their choice, and wished to send two of their number to C. B. for advice. Permission granted. Intrigues with the Indians. Chief of the River Indians (a small tribe) has come in, and been satisfied with Philipps' replies to his questions. Has not sent for other chiefs, as presents have not arrived. Inhabitants clearing a road to Minas, in order to retreat thither. Forbidden to do so. Deputies returned from Minas. Council resolved to send them away with smooth words, in order to gain time, and obtain instructions from England. Situation difficult. People cannot be made English, and will not remain quiet if the peace is broken. Believe only their priests, who are opposed to the Regent : danger also from the Indians. Two hundred Mohocks should be brought from New York to operate against them. Land at Minas very productive ; but may be drowned by cutting dykes. Situation in regard to the French unchanged. Neighboring French Governors assisted by the priests trying to draw off the inhabitants. If left to themselves, they would conform to the English wishes, but they are told that the promise of enjoying their religion is a chimera, and that they will be denied their priests, like the Irish Catholics. English settlers might be induced in the spring to take up the lands the French intend to forsake. Danger to be apprehended from Indians, if French leave. As Nicholson's convention referred to should have been put into effect seven years ago, possibly the 1720. present government may not be obliged to make it good. Want of presents for the Indians has hindered calling them together. In the meantime, the French are poisoning their minds against the government. Owing to want of means the King's authority does not extend beyond this fort. Outside it is despised and ridiculed. Officers in Cape Breton advise the French here to apply to Philipps for form's sake, but if he does not grant their requests, to follow their own inclinations. Something should be done; but P. is shut up in the fort and cannot even prevent the clandestine trade between these settlements and Cape Breton. If he could arm a sloop when needed, it would be a great help, at little expense, (a hundred pounds or so,) while a station ship costs £3,000 or £4,000 per annum. Garrison needs also a hundred more men. Has written to the Governor of Canada, asking him to appoint boundary commissioners, but has received no answer. The trade of the province is in favor of Boston and consists of fish, fur, feathers and oil. From 80,000 to 100,000 quintals of fish are taken in one season by the N. E. boats for the Portuguese, Mediterranean and W. Indian markets. Fur trade carried on by four or five sloops, making three voyages in the year; they put off W. I. goods and N. E. provisions at a profit of 400 or 500 per cent. and pay no duty. They also work a coal mine at the head of the bay without even the good manners to ask the King's leave. Will send important minutes of council in next despatch, and apologizes for abundance of details.

Reminds him of the necessity of authority to hold courts-martial. Mr. Mulcaster, the agent, has brought the garrison to the verge of mutiny, by withholding the pay. French could be made to help (as punishment) and Indians would curry favor. ) While not presuming to enforce the judgment of the Board, P. has the advantage of being on the spot. The twelve deputies having come in, and having been examined in regard to the pillage of Alden's sloop, the old excuse forthcoming that they were afraid of the savages (300 or 400 of 11 persons). They have produced a paper signed by Alden, exculpating them. Alden states that he understood all that the paper contained was a declaration that he did not know of the inhabitants inviting the savages, that no habitant took any goods (although they were bought cheap from them afterwards), and apparently spoke in his favor, but he believes that if they had made the least resistance, nothing would have been easier than to prevent the outrage. These excuses not satisfactory to Mr. Alden or himself.

1721. Situation unchanged since last dispatch. The French have sent deputies to sue for pardon; and promise to pay damages for allowing the pillage of Alden's sloop. If they have to leave the country, it will be as the Jews marched out of Egypt, with their own and with what they can borrow. Best plan is to build forts among them either to overawe or protect them. Then they will settle down. In order to establish civil government, the Govr. and Council have resolved themselves into a court to meet four times a year. The notion that martial law alone prevails here, hinders settlers from coming into the country. Sloop with detachment for Canso wrecked on the way but no men lost. Another sloop was sent at once with provisions and took them on. The fishery is not likely to be disturbed this summer.

At Canso chief interest the fishery. Carried on by British subjects from N. More particular account may be had from the Collector at Canso. What may in time affect the trade &c. of G. B. is the great extent and commodious situation of the province, stretching almost 400 leagues from St. George's River on E. coast of N. Bay of Fundy runs from Cape Sables (sic) to "Mont Desert" computed to be about 50 leagues; from Mont Desert N. Has a plan for settling the province. Our troubles proceed from the influence the French have over the Indians, which will be maintained as long as the English employ the French to sell their goods to the Indians. The French keep us at a distance, make the Indians depend on them, engross the whole management of the fur trade and run away with the profits. If the French were cut off from these advantages, the profit would go to the Indians, who would thereby be bound to us by the strong ties of self-interest. Plan is to erect truck-houses at St. John's river, where the most important tribe lives, on the same footing as that at St. George's: at the expense of the government of Massachusetts, as no money can be raised for the purpose in this province. A. will do all in his power to assist. In answer to petition, presented on Saturday 9th inst. O. S. and dated Dec. 8th, N. Nothing in Philipps' instrument but a promise to observe Art. 14 of the Treaty of Utrecht, i. e. not to interfere with them in the practice of their religion.

As there is only one congregational church to each parish in G. B., how can they expect more? A. will not alter or innovate. Besides "your former Priests, Charlomain and one Felix at mines & Several of the people," contrived a massacre of British subjects by the Indians: "and there are none of you but knows how Barbarously Some of his Majestys Subjects were Murder'd and wounded by these Infatuated unthinking people"; these "Actions being fresh in Every Childs memory." As A. found the church built where it is by the French themselves, he will not permit it to be removed until he has orders from G. B.; nor can the priest's place of residence be altered until then. They would need a particular church or priest for each district. If those up the river have a church to themselves, those down the river will demand one also.

Merely an enclosure with the case of Alex.<sup>r</sup> LeBorgne Sr. De Bellisle, drawn up in accordance with the B. of T.'s instructions, touching the pretensions of the seigneurs. Has "nothing as yet from any of the Rest"; but will forward it as soon as received. "This Alex.<sup>r</sup> is the son of Mary the Daughter of Seign.<sup>r</sup> James Latour (alias St. Estien) by Madam Daunay; She after ye reduction of this Province Retired to Canada for about three Years and then returned"; B. of T. can always refer to A.'s previous account of the seigneurs, which A. has not yet found to be contradicted by any here. Leaves it to judgment of B. of T. whether those who remained and are now present have any claim to the "shares of those who departed."

Annapolis.

Received D.'s by John Prince's son: laid before the Govr. whose answer is as follows: He is surprised at the inhabitants making so many frivolous excuses and difficulties, where none exist. It is as easy for them to bring their rents on horseback as it is to ride daily hither. If the debts were due the Gov.<sup>r</sup>, he might be lenient; but as they are due the King, his master, he must insist on payments. For their own sake, they are ordered to comply. On Monday morning next at 10 of the clock, he intends to "fire three Guns with a whiff in the flagg for a Signall to Speak with you": and also on Tuesday: when he expects the inhabitants to come with their rents. In regard to the difficulty of exchanging a turkey for 1733-4. four capons, "y<sup>t</sup> is judged no Equivalent because a Capon was always deemed more valuable than a hen, and you know yourself the Difference thereof."

Representation to the State of the Province in Case of War with France. [133

Duty of Gov. and Council in view of posture of affairs in Europe, to represent the defenceless state of N. S. The long continued fortifications at Louisbourg, St. Peter's and the Island of St. John's, enable them to send out privateers at their pleasure, cut off our supplies and destroy our fishing vessels. By the influence of their emissaries, the French in N. S. think they are only neutrals, and are ready to join those of C. B. and Canada against G. B. Some of these attacks cannot be repelled, as there are no vessels of force to check the insolence of their privateers; and no proper authority to punish treachery in the King's French subjects.

1734.
July 13.
Annapolis.

Canso, just at the doors of the Cape Breton French, and coveted by them, is most advantageously situated for the whale and cod fishery, and has recently made a considerable figure in these two great branches of trade. It lies naked and defenceless, without so much as barracks to lodge the four companies of Col. Philipps's regiment stationed there for its defence, or store houses, except hasty slight erections put up from time to time by the commanders, assisted by the fishermen. If taken by the French, the loss would affect not only N. S. but New England, New York and the other plantations; for British subjects resort thither from all parts. As it is the only place in the province that can be said to have been frequented all along by British subjects, its loss would very much affect the traders, and strengthen the French, and enable them to do more damage along the coast with their privateers.

1734. Merchants who trade with the French and Indians inform us that the demeanor of both towards the English has much altered of late; the first do not hesitate to declare publicly that they have the promise of assistance from France in retaking the province; the latter being thereby encouraged, have attempted to commit depredations. At the first declaration of war, the French and Indians will fall upon Canso, and besiege this place by land, while their privateers will cut off our supplies; but Cape Breton will be supplied, as it has been all along, by the French of this province, via Baie Verte and the harbors on the eastern coast. Canso "in a Much more Deploable State & Condition than Annapolis Royal"; several merchants have already retired from it. Hope his Majesty will consider their representations.

July 13. Formal congratulations "on the Happy Marriage of the Annapolis. Princess Royal with His most Serene Highness, the Prince of Orange." Though by reason of their remoteness, they may be the last to testify their joy at the great blessing this alliance will bring to the Protestant interest, they are not the less mindful of those great heroes, particularly William III, "who so Gloriously Mentain'd the Cause of Liberty and Religion." Such an alliance the only solid basis on which the happiness of his subjects can stand. They offer their earnest prayers for the long life and happiness of the bride and groom, and for "such a Glorious Offspring as may in Imitation of your Majesty and their Illustrious Ancestors of both houses Defeat the Hopes of all Tyranny and Arbitrary Power."

Acknowledges receipt of B. of T.'s letter of Sept. 11th last, with other papers in answer to A's. Sorry their letter came so late; cannot execute their orders in regard to Canso, until he can go there. As to the Indian presents and their shyness, A. was in Boston at the time, and could know nothing of them: annual presents may in time prove advantageous. A. still of his former opinion in regard to the proposed truck-houses at St. John's river, but in accordance with B. of T.'s orders will make no further advances beyond forwarding surveys and information home. Thankful for copy of Mrs. "Campble's" petition regarding French titles and seigneuries: some statements in it prejudicial to truth and the interests of her aunts and cousins, who have always remained in the province, and "pretend to on Equall Share with her in these Demesins

1. Before S.'s signature: "N. B. That one of the same Tenor & Date was Sent to the Sec.ry of State."

1734. which she claims." A. obliged to contradict the statement (intended to move pity) that Mrs. C.'s first husband Lieut. Broadstreet was killed by the Indians: he died in his bed, of a lingering disease in Dec. 1718 "I think." No Indian disturbances until 1722. The orders she mentions were only given in charity as an officer's widow "during pleasure, and not as any right She ever Claimed." Cobequid and Chignecto were always distinct from the La Tour claims: the first was given by the French King to Matthew Martain "who is but lately dead." Never heard of any claim of La Tour to the second.

Her statement that her several brothers and sisters, her co-heirs to the property in question conveyed the lands to her, on retiring from the province to the French possessions on the publication of Q. Anne's letter, "Is almost of Equall force with the former." She never had but one brother: her eldest sister married a French officer and left the province on the capture: and her said uncle Charles committed or tried to commit various hostilities upon British subjects from that time until the treaty of Utrecht. Her youngest sister is still here, having never retired from the province; her brother "being at that time also a Minor." If such conveyances be held good, there can be no such thing as forfeiture. Conveyance from her brother cannot be valid, because he was a minor; even had he been of age, he could only dispose of his share; Mrs. C. can be entitled only to her own share as a "parcener."

As against her grandfather's letters patent from the King of France, according to the best information here, "During the life of Marquis D'Auney, he La Tour was Entitled by Patent to that part of the province reaching westerly on St. John's River on the north Side of the Bay of Fundy, and that after Monsr. D'auney's Death, Monsieur La Tour having married his Widow, he was through her Intrest absolved from the Crimes of Male-administration alledged against him by her former husband, who had been Viceroy of the Province, & his power was then Enlarged; But being unable to answer in his Majestie the ffrench Kings Intention in Settling of the Province, He applied himself to one L'Borgne Sieur de Bellisle for Assistance, who Supplied him with money and other <sup>1734.</sup> Effects to a very great Sum, in order to Enable him to prosecute his design, Whereupon the said Sieur L'Borgne sent over his Son to Secure & take care of his Intrest According to the Agreement made between them two And as things went Cross with Mons. La Tour he put the son in possession of most, if not all his Estate as a Security for the Debt; which not being as yet paid, the Sons Widow one of the Daughters by the said La Tour by Madam D'auney holds part of it to this day." After La Tour's death, Madam D'aunay and her five children, being much reduced and applying to the French king for relief, it was decreed upon her petition, that Belleisle, as a valuable consideration for the money advanced, should be seigneur and receive the rents and profits for seven years, and that the estate should be divided, share and share alike among her five children. This is asserted by the oldest people here and the decree is said to be contained in a book called "Arrêt dè Court," which A. has not seen. If then the conveyance from her brother and one sister be held good, Mrs. C. can be entitled only to one-fifth, and those of the other branches who are now and always have been in the province, to their respective shares. The value of the rents not so great as is asserted, but about the same as those of Annapolis; account of which has been sent to the Board. A. submits further that no governor could give away what is always considered the property of the King, without special orders from home communicated to the Council. Unless Mrs. C. is limited in her claims, the B. of T. will be "Eternally troubled with Continually Claims by the other Coheirs her Aunts & Cousins," who, upon thoughts of leaving the province made the conveyances (and, A. is informed, only conditionally) on which she founds her claims; and not her brothers and sisters.

Although English subjects, on account of their fewness, ought to be used with tenderness, a vacancy is better than a deceitful member, and A. has suspended Wm. Winniett from his seat, on information laid against him, "and his other disrespectfull & Contemptuous behaviour not only in Council but likewise abroad." Acknowledges receipt of Secretary 1734. Popple's letter of May 30th, asking what further encouragement is necessary to induce the inhabitants to cultivate naval stores. A. does not know what encouragement is already given: will try to collect information, and would like instructions on that head. Inhabitants idle and lazy: nothing can be done until we have English inhabitants.

P. S. With regard to the minute of H. M.'s council, directing A. to prepare a patent for John Hart Esq. to certain waste lands in the province, with exemption from quit rents for ten years, and afterwards at quit rent of 4s. stg. per 100 acres, payable after ten years, A. considers this a great encouragement to settlers, (though beyond his original instructions): the present terms being the chief reason why the French will not accept patents. Will not swerve from his instructions, but submits the proposition to the Board.

Driven out of her course, she fell in with "the Tusketts (near to Pobomcoup by Cape Sables) they got all safe through meer providence into a Harbour Called Tibogue the 5th day of December last where they all Died, Except two Sailors & a Woman who remained on Board till the 4th of April last; The day whereon Anthony Telgumart, a Cape Sable Indian, with his Wife, His Brother Anastase & two Children went on Board & Carryed the unfortunate Gentlewoman along with them after having Robbed her, as she Saith of aboute Sixteen hundred pounds Sterling in Silver & Gold & maney other things of a Considerable Value, Exclusive the Ships Cargoe, by her said to be worth About Twelve Thousand pound Ster'g. more." Tedious to give all particulars; but translation of Mrs. B.'s affidavit enclosed. "She Arrived here from Pobomcoup with Mr. Charles Dentremon of that place, who took her from the Indians, & Mr. George Mitchell on the 9th Instant, & calls herself Susanna Buckler Widow of the said deceased Andrew Buckler, who died on Board the 30th of March last; Which, & her other Allegations & Assertions for want of other Evidence we cannot Disprove, However I have taken M<sup>r</sup> Dentremon's & M<sup>r</sup> George Mitchell's Declaration's No 2: 3, As to what they had heard or Seen thereon." Their "Brother & Relation M<sup>r</sup> Charles Dentremon & One M<sup>r</sup> Buckler" arrived here (at Annapolis) with Mr. George Mitchell, and informed H. M. Govt. on oath of a "most Surprising & Melancholy Accident which hath happened to the Brigantine Called the Baltimore in the Harbour Tibogue near your Village," and also of the Indians' barbarity to the gentlewoman in robbing her of money, clothes and other necessaries, as well as the ship's whole cargo, boat, sails, rigging and other tackling, ammunition, guns and fire-arms. A. has therefore sent a detachment under Ens. Chas. Vane, to bring the "Baltimore" to port and recover the stolen goods.

A. expects, from the good character "you have allwise had amongst the English" and their undoubted influence with the Indians, especially those of Cape Sable, that they will do their utmost to get the ship's sails &c. from the Indians, to be put on board her and sent hither with the utmost despatch, "as You will Answer to y<sup>e</sup> Contrary."

As, according to Mrs. B.'s statement two sailors, since missing, were alive on board, on Ap. 4th last N. S. Greeting, formal. A. is "mightily pleased with the Character you Bear & your Prudent & wise Conduct in being noways Concerned" in the alleged murder and robbery connected with the "Baltimore," in Tibogue, "Near your Village," committed by Antoine Tedeumart, and others. Chief and innocent members of the tribe assured of A.'s protection and friendship. Such actions are not only repugnant to the laws of God and man, but also expressly against the articles of peace signed by the C. Sable Indians and the tribes of New England, one article of which stipulates that "no private Revenge shall be taken"; but that, on complaint, an Englishman shall be regularly tried for an offence against an Indian, and an Indian offending shall be delivered by his tribe for trial. Not necessary to remind the chief of these things, as latter must abhor all such vile and abominable actions, which bring down the vengeance of God and the displeasure of men "particularly of the Subjects of his most Sacred Brittanick Majesty My Master." Enjoined to recover the missing property and deliver Tedeumart and such others of the tribe as are concerned in the wrongdoing, that they may be fairly examined according to the treaty, and that the Chief himself may be freed from all blame.

2. The following extracts from the minutes of the Council at Annapolis (MS. 22 p. 435 ff.) throw light on this passage:

Monday the 17th May 1736 being mett According to Adjournment.

* * * Then His Honour Acquainted the Board that as the Inhabitants of Coboquit had applied to him for a Priest, & that as Mr. St. Ponce whom they Petitioned for was thinking of going to France, but willing to stay a Year longer with these People, He had therefore a great mind to let him go but not till either his or Mr. Cheveraux Return from Pobomcoup being Intended at the request of Mr. Dentremont to send one of these Priest to use his Endeavours with the Indians to make Restitution, & then laying the Petition of Francis Mitchell & John Robisheaux in behalf of the Inhabitants before ye Board, it was upon Debate deferred till to-morrow that ye Petitioners & the two Priests might be presents.

Tuesday the 18th May 1736 Being Mett at the same Place. * * *

The Petition in behalf of the Inhabts of Coboquit was also laid before the Board, which being again read & what His Hon. had also said thereon Considered the prayer was granted.

Whereupon Mr de St Ponce & Cheveraux the two Romish Priests were called in & informed thereof & told that it was Judged necessary, before Mr. De St Ponce's departure for Coboquit, that either he or Mr. Cheveraux should first go to Pobomcoups along with Mr. Charles Dentremont & Lt Amhurst to use Endeavours that Restitution may be made of the Vessells Sails & such other Effects which the Indians had taken.

They thereunto Answered his Hon. & the Board in a most Insolent, Audacious

1736. opposition thereunto Set up an Independant Jurisdiction of their own and as the Minute of Council will Inform You of their audacious Insolence on this Occasion I hope you will not only approve of My Conduct in having sent them Conformable to y<sup>e</sup> Said minute out of this province" but give further instructions "to direct Us to Manage and treat Such Priests the Refractory Inhabitants & Lawless Savages, Who for some time past have been so Elated as Seemingly to have no Manner of Regard to any of their Treatys; which is not only evident from former Acts and their Behaviour in respect of this Brigantine, but also from the Insolence of those of St. John's River in opposing a Vessel sent by the Storekeeper of y<sup>e</sup> Board of Ordnance to load With Lime Stone for His Majesty's Service, their Robbing y<sup>e</sup> people of their Cloaths & provisions, pretending that the Land &c. belonged to them, and that therefore they Would be paid; as the Sailors of that Vessel have reported."

Unless other methods are taken to bring them over to H.

cious & Disrespectfull manner, Saying that absolutely that they would not go & that they would have nothing to do in the Affair. [437]

And being asked if they would not Obey the Just & lawfull Orders of his Majesty's Government to which Mr. Chevereaux Answering contemptuously with an Unbecoming Air and unmannerly gestures Saying Que Je Suis ici de la part du Roy de France & Mr St Poncy most affrontingly affirming the Same also in words to the Same Effect.

His Hon'r thereupon told them that he had a great mind, seeing they had so Said, for their Contempt of this his Majesty of Great Brittain's Government to send them to France.

They replied with a Laugh & a most haughty Insolent Air, With all their Hearts, then turned their Backs & went out of the Room Seemingly in a very great Passion, Slamming and throwing the Doors in a most Rude & insulting Manner, & without his Hon'rs leave they left the Board where they were desired to Attend for an answer to the abovesaid Petition.

When Mr Dentremont being called before the Board & told that the priests had refused to go, He said he was sorry for it, for it was his Opinion that the most Expedient method to bring these Indians to reason & to get Restitution would be to send a Priest which was the reason of his proposing it to his Honour, a Priest being also much wanted at their Village to Baptize & administer the Sacraments.

The Board having taken their Behaviour & Comportment into Consideration, came unanimously to this Resolution that they should be dismissed & ordered to retire to the Presbytere & there to remain 'till an Opportunity Offered to send them out of the Province.

Agreed that they the two priests should be Again Sent for to hear the Opinion & Determination of the Board that they may prepare to be gone when ever an Opportunity Should Offer.

Whereupon the said two Priests Appearing before the Board & the Sentence being read; they resumed their former Insolence, Called for Chairs to sitt Down, Saying that they did not Appear as Criminals &c that they had no business with things Temporal, & further expressed themselves in these words "Que Nous Navons point D'ordres a Recvoir Ici, and as their [438] whole Behaviour & Discourse to the Govr. was as above Recited & tending to a Jurisdiction of their own Independant of his Majesty's Authority & the Civil power of this his Government, they Were Ordered to Depart Immediately to the Presbytere & there to Remain as aforesaid & also Ordered that the 14th Arti. of the treaty of Utretch should be sent them.

M.'s interest, this government will be insulted and British subjects, if not murdered, robbed and molested.

Brigt. "Baltimore" from Dublin to Maryland driven on this coast; all on board perished but the gentlewoman who calls herself Susanna Buckler, widow of Andrew Buckler, sole owner of the vessel. Vessel brought to this port and laid up with care, for benefit of the owner. Papers found forwarded to him because they contain his name and because Mrs. B. gives out that C. was her husband's friend, correspondent and factor. By papers enclosed, C. will see that they have not only tried to get at the truth, but also to recover the lost property: latter difficult as Indians have no principle of honor, honesty or virtue, and some of the French inhabitants may act as their receivers. Has been at expense in salvaging vessel and in supporting Mrs. B. in her distress; would like advice as soon as possible as to disposal of vessel. Must be at further expense in sending her home.

Acknowledges receipt de B.'s letter of July 1st.; sorry for disputes: but in some cases, they are inevitable. De B. Mistakes the cause of A.'s difference with the two priests: "it was not so much for Affronting my self & his Majesty's Council, as their affecting an Independency & disowning his Majesty's Authority in his own Dominions; I am Convinced that the french Government would not have been so mild on such an Occasion if I may Suppose that any priest would have dared to disobey their Lawful Commands. Disobedience in Spiritual Pastors is always of a Contagious nature." As to de B.'s contention that, according to the treaty of Utrecht the people

"Now these laws very Expressly Declare the King's Majesty to be Supreme in all Causes & over all Persons whatsoever in his own Dominions, consequently Priests as well as others while they reside in this Province are Oblidged to obey his Lawfull Orders or of those Commissioned by him." Blame not to be laid on A. but on the priests for defying his authority.

Granting that the woman be such as de B. supposed, still as A. had information that a rich ship had been plundered, and several murders committed within his jurisdiction, it was his duty to make all inquiry into an "Affair so Intricate & Mysterious, to discover the Authors of so Tragical an Event, & as I was determined to send a Commission Officer for that Purpose to Pombcoup, I thought proper to direct one of the priests to go along with him to admonish & exhort both French & Indians to make a Discovery of what they knew & to make Restitution & satisfaction for the Injuries they had Committed Mons.<sup>r</sup> Dentreumont was of Opinion likewise that this would be the most Effectual means to Learn the truth. Nay, Mons.<sup>r</sup> Cheveraux seems now to be of the same mind, who I find has Stopt at Cape Sables in Defiance of my Orders, tho' he would not go half the way in Obedience to my Commands." Has sent home to the English authorities full statement of the case: until further orders he will not depart from his resolution, "neither to admitt of the return of these two Priests, nor any others tainted with such Rebellious principles."

As most of the passages relate to Canso, refers the B. of T. to the Commanding Officer's report, whom A. will direct to send an account of the duties payable there, what ships employed in that fishery, to whom they belong and the number of English inhabitants. Effective force, nine companies in N. S. and one at Placentia. We try to keep them up to the establishment; they were full last fall and there has been but small loss since. The "Encouragement I published at Boston," on which the Board desires information, was a statement that A. intended to be there in the following summer to settle the rights of the traders, and to grant unappropriated lands upon the conditions prescribed by H. M. govt. Does not remember stating that there was no trade at Canso; refers for vindication to original despatch. Can add nothing to what he has said already regarding the Indian presents, state of Canso and the need of a fort there to protect the fishery: believes the B. of T. will do their best for the province. The lateness of the season and no means of deporting him being at hand and his own submissive behaviour induced A. and the Council to allow him to remain during the winter, with some restrictions, as per minute No. 1. On the 19th of April last, Lt. Understand that there is a project to settle the province more effectually: beg to remind P. why it is not now in a better condition. 1. The French inhabitants allowed to remain in their possessions, no proper subjects could be found to establish a government in accordance with the laws of England. They are Roman Catholics and unqualified to form a House of Representatives. 2. Their possessing the best lands has been a discouragement to possible English settlers “to Offer themselves for Settling any New and uncultivated Lands.” 3. The penny an acre quit-rent and the possible tax of another penny is a great discouragement to settlers, especially as very good lands may be had in the adjacent provinces without any such tax. Mascarene who tried to get settlers from the neighboring province found this penny tax the chief objection. 4. Except for these discouragements, the province would have made greater progress and civil government been established in all its branches; latter not incompatible with military occupation, which is an absolute necessity to keep the numerous French to their duty: and protect settlers from Indians: force should be greater. Refer P. to document dated July 13th, 1734, for state of province and of Canso.

Has received S.'s of the 6th inst. Points out that there is no precedent for re-assembling Council, to re-consider a matter once assented to; has never been done during his term of office. Is sorry S. calls the action of the Council crude and undigested. Points out how such reconsideration will discourage settlers, especially after a survey, which can only be made in this country by fitting out a vessel and hiring hands to protect the surveyor against the Indians,—a matter of great expense—and that grants which form a title must always precede a survey, for no one would think of going to the expense of a costly survey of land to which he would after all have only a precarious title. As to the remonstrance from the officers at Canso, A. should expect it to be addressed to himself and to come from the commanding officer. Has heard recently from him and he makes no mention of the matter. Therefore cannot imagine that the founding of a township of H. M.'s Protestant subjects up the bay can affect the garrison injuriously. It is the King's desire to have the province settled; and this is all the more necessary in view of the great increase of the French population. Renews his instructions. Has received A.'s of the 9th inst. Though humble of the same opinion about granting How's patent. Adduces precedent of the colliery, which after being surveyed, had its boundaries adjusted in Council, new names given to different places and the patent laid before the Council before being finally granted. Still thinks that all matters of such importance should be weighed by the Council, especially if attended with disputes. Capt. Mitford's silence does not, in S.'s opinion, cancel the officers' complaint: it may be urged on either side of the case. In accordance with H. M.'s instructions, the complaint should be considered by the Council. Does not see how he can draw up a patent "by and With the Advice and Consent of The Council" till that is first obtained. Is still of opinion that the minute of August 8th, 1738, is not sufficient authority. Further reasons. (1) The Royal Instructions require a certain proportion of unprofitable land to be granted with the profitable, and no tracts to be granted running along the sea-coast or rivers. S. is a stranger to this territory: the Council should meet to give assistance and advice on this matter. (2) All such townships are to be divided into town-lots, and granted according to the capacities of the settlers, no one of which is to have more than 1000 acres, either in his own or any other name. (3) In making out a patent in the name of a company, the names of all the members should be known to avoid transgressing any part of H. M.'s instructions. S. needs the Council's help, if he is to avoid errors. Wishes from his heart there were five hundred townships for one, settled in accordance with the King's instructions. Would do all in his power to help, not hinder.

those who disobey will feel its power. Those who so submit

Has ordered the secretary to send herewith one of the July 4.

The intention of M. and the Council in this is not to deprive the habitans of their religious rights but to hinder the priests from exceeding their powers; which may bring trouble upon them and deprive them of the privilege they have hitherto enjoyed. As soon as these gentlemen disregard the orders of the government and exercise powers repugnant to the laws of G. B., it is certain that they will not be allowed to remain in the country; and those who shall support and maintain them, contrary to the laws, will render themselves liable to punishment. Get the habitans to consider the matter, and if they regard their own interests, they will see nothing but justice in our proceedings. Enclosed what he had previously written, having no time to add more.

July 4.
Annapolis.

Reason for this proclamation, the offence given to H. M. government "By Publishing an Excommunication with intention to Deprive of all means of Livelyhood one who not only has had the Protection of a Subject but is actually in a Publick Employ." Missionaries seem to think it not sufficient that the habitans enjoy their religious rights; but they themselves assume powers not allowed by the laws of G. B. and consequently excluded by the Article (14. of the Treaty of Utrecht) securing the exercise of their religion to the French. Deputies and missionaries advised to keep within the bounds prescribed by law. As long as they do so, they will have the protection of the government. If the missionaries misbehave, those who support them may expect to be called to a severe account. This to be communicated to the succeeding deputies and to serve as a rule of conduct in time to come.

Has received B.'s of July 3rd per Winniett with his commission from late Lt. Gov. of the province. Not necessary to send it but only to show it, for M.'s proclamation continues B. in his position like every other officer. Returns B.'s commission with written approval, which will be sufficient until B. can come in person to Annapolis, as he intends to do, and get another. B. must send a statement of the rents collected: as the papers of the late governor are not in good order. Belle-humeur, Mangeant, and "Duyon" have made out their papers clearly for this river, "toutes les Mines et Cobequid," and received their quittance from the Council: B. the only "receiver" to report: can get paper from Blinn, who has gone in B.'s direction: would have sent some himself, if he had had fitting occasion. In regard to the rents received and to be received and the means of remitting them hither, all the contracts carry the condition of being paid here at the seigniorial mansion; it therefore lies with the habitans to find conveyance, but to make things as easy as possible, B. has only to sell the proceeds of the rents, and remit them in money, notes or bonds upon the merchants trading to Annapolis<sup>2</sup>; for which M. will give a valid receipt. As the late governor (or his heirs) are responsible to the King for what was received of H. M. funds, O'Neil must pay his own debts, and B. has only to mark in his statement the amount O'N. still holds. Sends proclamation to be read and posted up at Chignecto: its contents and M.'s open letter to the Deputies will explain why it is necessary. It is to the interest of the inhabitants of this province to comport themselves as loyal British subjects and not as rebels; or trouble may come upon them which will involve the innocent with the guilty. Enquires for Blin, who has been very ill at Minas.

Rehearses the reason for the appointment of deputies. As D. has been regarded as Deputy from Cape Sables, and represents "the Affairs of Those people Inhabiting at Pobumcoup and Bauaroraux Passage," encloses proclamation and other papers "to be there Published." If any of the people encroach on one another's property, or commit injustice or transgress the orders of the government, D. is to inform the Governor, or in his absence, the commander-in-chief and Council. Day for electing deputies, Oct. 11th, N. S. If it fall on Sunday, the election is to take place on the following Monday. ing to the intention of the Council. Will lay the report before the Council at its first meeting, and answer B. regarding the question of expense. In regard to the frauds on the "Lots et Ventes,"<sup>1</sup> when the King bought the seignorial rights, he bought all the rights: and thus, everything taken by fraud comes back to the King; and the fine ought to be in proportion to the sum taken by fraud, for it seems unjust that one who defrauds to the amount of a hundred pounds should pay no greater fine than he who steals four. Wishes B.
to explain this: the order is not upon the books at Annapolis and M. would like to see it. Pierre Landry complains of a desire to molest him: see order and letter to the Deputies on this point. Would like to prevent lawsuits but not to decide them except before the Council, and by hearing both sides;
B. and the deputies to get the fullest information possible on the case, for the benefit of M. and the Council.
Inform the habitans that those who have defrauded the King and do not make restitution within a month or six weeks must expect to suffer the penalties annexed to their contracts; and that those who shall henceforth draw up contracts of "Lots Reason for these orders,—de St. Poncey returning to the Province after having retired from it with M.'s passport. No missionary priest to settle in the province without the Governor's leave and approval: de St. P. returns as a stranger. Inhabitants should have applied for a priest through the Governor. Explains the reasons for appointing Deputies: orders of Govt. to be transmitted through them; they to execute and report on them. "If they Cannot write, (which by the by Shews the Ignorance in Which they have been Kept, & is not much to the Praise of the Missionaries who have Resided amongst Them) They are to make use of the hand of Those who Know that Art, But the Act must be Their own and Carry their Signature or Mark." To expedite such matters, M. wishes that the parties in such cases would, before coming here, communicate their documents to one another, and especially the petition which the plaintiffs address to the Governor-in-Council, in order that the other parties may be able to defend themselves, on their arrival here. This should be done a few days before the meeting of the Council, in order that the necessary documents may be translated into English for the information of the judges. Surprised to find Benoit of Piziquid here. Thought the affair between him and Pierre leBlanc settled and ended. If he is not satisfied with the Council's decision, all he can do is, after having as a first step conformed to that decision, to petition to have the case re-opened. 1. This and the four letters following are in French, pondence. Four of the Council have gone to New England, 1741. and the remainder are too few to decide important cases. Mlle. B.'s aunt has gone to Louisbourg to obtain proofs; and it is therefore to Mlle. B.'s interest to take all precautions. M. is sure Mlle. B. is too reasonable to hope for favour from him as a judge. In anything not contrary to his duty, M. will have great pleasure in obliging her. Hopes that when she has news and opportunity she will write.

Mascarene to Alex. Bourg.

Has received B.'s letter by Baptist Forest of Piziquid. Has told him what M. wrote to B. viz., that he would not decide any question of meum and tuum except in Council. If people will not compose their differences amicably, they must have recourse to the regular courts. "The Council have made it a rule to follow the Antient laws & Customs established with 1741. the Inhabit.<sup>ts</sup> in judging of their Suits & shall continue so except in cases where such would Affect the rights of the Crown or be repugnant to the Laws of Great Brittain & therefore no new customs or Laws trump up by any residing amongst you will gain any Sway." If they cannot agree, the plaintiff must petition for a summons to be sent to the defendant "to appear here in October."

For the same reason, M. cannot look over Longuepée's papers "to examine whether the Land he is in possession of is inserted in his grant of the Signior or whether he has incroached & taken more than was granted to him & so the Land in which the Mill is desired to be built belongs to the King as Signior or to the Said Longuepée but if the place on which the Mill is to be built be of Such necessity & Convenience to the Commonality those who intend to build it may agree with the said Longuepée amicably & oblige themselves to give Such Satisfaction to him in case the Land or part of the Stream on which they build be prov'd to be his & if on the Examin.<sup>n</sup> of the Case before the Council the Land or that part of the River be found to belong to the King as not being contained in the S.<sup>d</sup> Longuepée's grant then those who shall have built the Mill will be answerable to his Majesty for Rents & other dues as Usually Allowed in such Cases."

Has received per Winniett, B.'s letter stating that had received something further on account of the King's Dues and had put 60 livres into W.'s hands to be delivered to M.; but W. says the three hhds. wheat B. offered to put on board were not good, and were taken by a habitan who promised to send the same amount of good wheat in the fall, "and as for the Sixty liv.<sup>res</sup> which were the Produce of them three hh<sup>ds</sup> he told me you had said nothing to him about it but Offerd to pay that sum on your acco.<sup>t</sup> if I would insist on it. As this shows some kind of Mistery," M. wants an explanation. B. not to charge the three hhds to M.'s account. The people of Chignecto "appear in all things of a refractory spirit," pay the King's Dues unwillingly "& in bad Species," and persist<sup>1741.</sup> in disobeying the orders regarding de St. Poncey. Trouble will come of it. It is of great importance for the support of the King's authority that the missionaries should not settle themselves in the province contrary to the regulations; this explains the reasons for the regulations regarding de St. P. The Govt. will support them; and punish sooner or later those who disobey. As for those who have settled on the King's lands, without grant, B. is to read the orders on that head, as well as M.'s letters of Oct. 22nd, 1740, Jan. 7th and Ap. 11th, 1741, all in the same strain. "I am not varying but always keep to what is my duty the promoting His Majesty's Service." Hopes B. will continue faithful in his position.

P. S. Petition sent by "Bourg & Sire" requires no answer as it relates to settling on ungranted lands. Hears of illicit trade from Baie Verte and that the habitans of Chignecto have a share in it, contrary to orders. This will increase the resentment against them.

M. told Martin Benoit that he and his father must first comply with the decree of the Council, before the case could be re-opened, on the terms set forth in M.'s letter to the Deputies of last year. He and Mr. Donnell have been so busy since D.'s coming from Minas that M. has not settled anything with him yet. Aug. 24. The death of Winniet has reduced his widow to a deplorable condition, which "gives a particular concern to everybody here. She is resolv'd to pay honourably her deceased husband's debts." To that end she must receive what is justly due her. B. is to notify all in his district who were in W.'s debt to get ready "what is requisite to discharge their respective dues" with all speed, in order that the sloop which has gone to Boston and is, on her return, to proceed up the Bay, may make another voyage to Boston and return before winter. "She is to bring some merchandize for Acco<sup>t</sup> of the Widow,"

Returns answer by bearer of the letter sent. Des E.'s correspondence agreeable to M., as long as the missionaries observe the government regulations, which des E. concedes they should. They will not be hindered in the exercise of their spiritual duties, "but when they shall pretend to require or to Settle themselves by any other Authority than what derives from the King of Great Britain" they will injure not only themselves but those who support them in their unwarrantable proceedings. Has referred "Mons<sup>r</sup> Lobarett" to his (M.'s) letters to des E. for information on this point: wishes des E. to communicate them to de la Goudalie "if he comes to your parts before he reaches these, that those Messieurs" may not make any mistakes. Affairs in Europe are much embroiled. In case of a rupture between G. B. and France, missionaries will fall under suspicion and must conduct themselves well.

Received B.'s letter by Bodar. Sends summons for Etienne Rivet and René Landry directed to the Deputies of Piziquid. If the orders of government are disobeyed, extreme measures must be taken. M.'s desire has been to make the people understand G. B.'s leniency: "but if they dont know how to make use of that ease without turning it to licentiousness we shall find a way to make them repent of having Slighted so good an offer." Glad to hear that the affair between the wife of Jean le Blanc of Piziquid and the Landrys is likely to be settled. Wishes the resort to law only when all other methods have failed. Gautier who goes "towards your parts" thinks that he has not received full satisfaction for the loss of his horse. Wishes G. may have no reason to complain of their partiality. In this, M. has no other view than to make people honest, particularly those who represent the Govt.

Did not answer the letter de la G. wrote from Louisbourg, wherein he stated his intention of coming to this place, whither all missionaries must repair to obtain the approbation of the Govt. This a prerogative M. will maintain to the utmost of his power, as necessary for the support of H. M. authority. M. therefore will not answer the different heads of the letter nor acknowledge de la G. as having any right to office in this province, until he comes to Annapolis and complies with the regulations. If he follows St. P.'s example and tries to evade them by frivolous excuses, he will draw down upon himself and those who support him, the resentment of the Govt. Hopes de la G. will as a minister of peace comply and try to promote order and good government.

Jan. 11.      District of Chignecto has been so long in a state of disobedience that the habitans can only regain the confidence of the Govt. by repentance and amendment. Encloses proclamation which shows that they must obey and enforce the Govt.'s orders. In this way order may be restored, unless they oblige the Govt. to use force.

A habitan named Quaissy, the bearer of this, has made proposition regarding the Lake; but the map submitted is not sufficient to make grants by. All that can be done is to promise those interested that the grant will be confirmed as soon as the survey is made, if in the meantime they have conformed to the orders of the Govt. unless an express order should come from Court forbidding it. In the meantime those concerned may continue their works, not however passing the limits sent by the Council. Lands not granted by the Govt. have apparently been sold, and money has been fraudulently obtained. Such cases will be looked into, when the grants are made. As for the squatters on Crown land, for which they have no grants, if they can prove that they have lost their papers by fire or other accident, "The Government may Insure them Their Possessions." But those who have taken Crown land contrary to justice and Govt. orders, cannot be considered as possessing any right to their holdings. A difference will be made between those who marked (Crown) lands and then refrained from improving them, in obedience to Govt. orders, and those who refused to obey and even occupied the land marked and abandoned by others. If the King bestows additional grants, those who have obeyed will receive the preference <sup>1742.</sup> and those who have disobeyed will receive their deserts. No payment of King's dues can give a title to ill-gotten possessions. The Receiver and Deputies will make out lists distinguishing those who have valid deeds, those who have lost their deeds but can prove possession during the French régime, those who had leave to mark out lands and obeyed the Govt. orders, those who have not obeyed, and those who have taken lands marked out by others, including those on the river Chippody. Such lists properly made out may in time remove many difficulties. Give due attention to this letter, in the interests of peace. They may repent if they do not now obey. Assist the Receiver in collecting the King's dues, and communicate this letter to him.

Has received B.'s letter per Quaissy, whose proposal obliged M. to call a meeting of Council. As much done as possible until the lake is surveyed properly, the plan sent being insufficient. Has written also to the Deputies. B. is to help in making return of habitans according to their rights to the land they possess. Will be glad to favor B. "But it is to be Considered that you are not one of the Old Inhabitants nor Descended from them, that it is even said that you have not taken The Oath of Allegiance which are Obstacles of no Little Consequence, Besides That The Suspicion is entertained Of Your haveing Being Concern'd in a foreign Trade." Wishes that B. may be able to remove the obstacles by his good behavior. Those who have taken Crown lands do not earn a title to them by paying the King's Dues; and M. is not to press them for payment. B.'s accounts are in the hands of the Secretary for examination: what M. has seen of them leads him to believe they are just and exact. Wishes him a Happy New Year. True that the weather has prevented des E. from coming to A. in accordance with the regulations. Hopes that these difficulties des E. raises will not give rise to the idea that missionaries will oppose any regulation made for them. The Council passed the resolution regarding de la Goudalie, without the latter's concurrence, but to his satisfaction, though de la G. would rather be settled here, as some of the people want him. If after des E. comes here, his health does not permit him to remain, he may withdraw. While M. is at the head of the Govt., he will never prevent a missionary leaving the province; he only wishes to hinder any of them from settling in it, contrary to the regulations. Return of Trefry telling how he was plundered "in your Parts." Was about to sail for Boston and the purport of the letters sent might be imagined, if it was thought the Indians in general had been concerned in the outrage, and had been supported by the French. Letters from B., Mangeant and two Indians, have changed the aspect of the case. Their conduct and that of the two deputies is highly approved. Wind is fair and T. is about to sail to recover his loss. What is reported cannot be the whole of the cargo: B. is to obtain what satisfaction he can for T. Sends T.'s statement of his cargo: has given T. inventory of the goods recovered. Intends to write to "Mons. De Loutre": if B. sees or writes to him (de L.) he is to ask him to use his influence with the Indians to recover the missing goods. From the remark of an Indian woman, Bujeau was suspected of inciting the Indians: but from B.'s letters, the suspicion has been proved groundless. Mascarene to the Deputies of Chignecto.

1742. Has received from Bergerau the return of the inhabitants of May 20. Chignecto, as ordered: it will enable the Council to decide Annapolis. questions of land tenure. The intention is to assist the law-abiding and protect H. M. rights, "as Lord of the Several Mannors in this Province since the year 1731 That His Majesty made a Purchase of the said Seigniores from those who had A Right to them." After a proper survey is made, those who have conformed to the law shall be entitled to a rebate on what they may have paid in as King's Dues, since 1731. The oath of allegiance taken by heads of families binds all the family; and those born since H. M. accession are equally bound to obey Govt. orders. By the return, M. finds that a number of habitans with valid deeds have refused to pay the King's Dues; although this is the condition on which they hold their lands. B. has accounted for what he has received and his accounts have been laid before the Council: He has been appointed Notary and Receiver by a new commission; writings passed by him will be valid here "Which will Prevent fraudes So Offten Committed by Clandestine Deeds or Writings." Deputies to give him all assistance. If, after all that has been said and done, the habitans of Chignecto persist in disorder, a time of retribution will surely come. The only measures proposed have been for the advantage of the people and the maintenance of the King's rights. They have enjoyed religious privileges even beyond the stipulations of the treaty of Utrecht. Try to atone for past offences by better behavior. It is to the interest of the whole community to promote order. "Bergerau" is to visit A. this summer: one or two of the Deputies should come with him, to hear the deliberations of the Council for their benefit. Habitans obliged by their contracts to pay their annual dues on a certain day "that is on the feast of S<sup>t</sup> Martins." Failure to do so will bring punishment. Notwithstanding their good treatment and the proclamation of Ap. 19th, 1720, O. S., the habitans have shown disobedience and ingratitude and are cutting a road to Minas apparently with the intention of molesting this garrison, or of removing themselves and their effects to Minas. They are therefore ordered to desist at once: otherwise their conduct will be treated as defiance of the King's authority. All are forbidden to leave their settlements without the Governor's permission.

The damage which Akins noted has not diminished with time. Even turning the leaves over with the utmost care causes the paper to fall apart. The entries were made with great care, in very legible hands. Marginal notes were furnished and an index, which have not been transcribed.

Preamble rehearses the advantages of America being a source of naval stores, and orders Dunbar to begin work with least possible delay. Nova Scotia reported as abounding in all necessary timber. Proclamation to regulate Currency and Exports. [56]

Preamble rehearses the great difficulties and inconveniences attending this province from the want of a currency; state of things likely to become worse as the French inhabitants refuse to take anything but French silver money which is brought in by clandestine trade between the French settled at the head of the Bay and the neighboring French colony (C. B.) in live cattle, corn and other provisions, "which Mony is hoarded up in order to be sent to Boston, where it is of considerable more value than here" so that there is almost no circulation of it in this province. The Garrisons have only Boston paper money to supply their needs, which the inhabitants refuse to accept. (1) All French and foreign silver is worth no more in this province than fourteen shillings per ounce and from the 25th of March 1730-31 is not to pass for more than eighteen shillings per ounce. Bills of New England are to be legal tender in all contracts. (2.) In view of the great exportation of late years, of corn, cattle, sheep and hogs as well alive as slaughtered beyond what the yearly produce of the stock of this province can afford and the consequent threatened scarcity, especially since many new settlers are expected; no vessel trading to or from the province shall carry a greater quantity than two months' provisions. The inhabitants of Minas, Chignecto, Piziquid, Cobequid and other settlements up the Bay are forbidden to ship cattle, sheep or other provisions at Chebucto, Tapenagoock, Chignecto or any other creeks or places to be carried to any foreign settlement "except at this port of Annapolis Royall only, under y<sup>e</sup> penalty of twelve months imprisonment, & forfeiture of 50£. Grant of Land to John Dyson.

John Dyson sergeant and store-keeper to the Board of Ordnance has represented that the plot of ground on which the garrison lime-kiln stands between the fort and the town of Annapolis, is daily encroached upon by the sea, and will in a few years be washed away, if not prevented. If granted the land to build a dwelling house on, he will engage to fence the ground with stakes and plank, thereby securing it against further damage. Granted (boundaries being defined<sup>1</sup>) on condition of making such fence until such time as G. Order to Give Possession.

Joseph Robishau has complained some time in March that although he had paid John Hibbert for a piece of land four or five years ago, his brother Anthony Hibbert has ever since held forcible possession of it. Case heard in council. Hibbert acknowledged Robishau's right. Robishau believing all obstacles removed, went to Hibbert to get possession, who refused to comply with his just demand, and treated petitioner "with most Insulting and Injurious language." Royal Proclamation regarding Spanish Pirates.

Many outrages by Spanish ships upon English traders, in spite of the fact that the two countries are at peace, and that orders to cease hostilities have been issued to the Spanish Colonial governors. All plunderers with or without commission are to be considered as pirates. They are believed to receive secret encouragement and protection at the West Indian ports where they fit out. All British subjects so plundered are to declare at first seaport their losses, which are to be regularly investigated by the vice-admiralty court of said port. On the arrival of any of the King's ships, the governor is to deliver the declaration to commander, who is then to proceed to the port where the goods were taken and get satisfaction or conduct reprisals according to the general orders. Order for Choosing New Deputies.

Certain Deputies complain of expense and loss of time in the fulfilment of their duties and also that they were chosen by Gov<sup>r</sup>. Philipps and not by the inhabitants. Therefore for the welfare of the province the present Deputies are to assemble the inhabitants on Sept. 2, next, and divide the "number of their familys" into eight equal divisions, give each division a distinguishing name. Each division is then to choose its deputy "an honest Discreet person" to represent them until next election. Same must be signified in writing and signed by at least a majority of the inhabitants. Each division is further "recommended" to provide for the deputy's expenses before they proceed to such election. As there is general complaint about the fraudulent measures in use in the province, especially the French half-bushel "most of them being false and unjust and not Conformable to the Standard," the deputies are ordered to search for all the standard half-bushels and bring them to the Governor to be duly compared and others carefully made and adjusted to be, for the future, only used in this province.

Order to Habitans of Chignecto Regarding O'Neal. [186

Their disputes and animosities and frequent complaints particularly against James O'Neal have given the Govt. great trouble. There may be faults on both sides. It is plain that most of them have transgressed in regard to the payment of the King's quit rents and other dues. "I cannot omitt thus

1. Writing dim: paper water stained and decayed.

Reprimanding you for Such Disobedience and Insolence, And also for your Daring to take up and to possess yourself of lands without the Advice or Previous Consent either Asked for or granted by this his Majesty's Government particularly Abram Arsinoe, his sons and their Associates for presuming in Contempt of Minutes of Council to Disturb the said James Oneil in the possession of that land on LaValliers Island which was thereby provisionally Granted him, without first Showing Cause for their so Doing by making out their right and pretentions thereunto before me and his Majesty's Council." Abram Arsinoe et al. have complained by petition in 1738 against O'Neal and "Refused and Contemptuously Disobeyed three Several orders and Summons to appear here before me and his Majesty's Council to make good their Allegations against him." This non-compliance shows not only contempt but that their complaints were largely groundless. Therefore, in accordance with the Minutes-of-Council, dated Dec. 15, 1736, May 5, 1737, and May 4, 1736, James O'Neal is confirmed in the possession and profits of said land until Abram Arsinoe et al., "who have thus Disturbed and Impeded him from Engaging the Same, shall make good their Right thereunto by any Previous lawfull Grant thereof." They are also strictly forbidden to hinder O'Neal in possession. As O'N. has obeyed the order issued against on the 15th inst., he is not to be molested in the lawful carrying out of his affairs.

Preamble rehearses case of Stephen Rivett and his children vs. Claude Brossard, all of Piziquid. Brossard bought land from Cécile Rivett, sister of Stephen R., being her share of her father's estate. Case heard before Governor-in-Council, Aug. 7, 1736. Both sides agreed to submit to the judgment of arbitrators chosen by themselves; and entered into a bond to that effect "under the pain of one Thousand Livers Tournois" to be paid by the party not agreeing to the party observing, as appears by the act of arbitration, dated Oct. 9, 1736. Whereas Rivett has not complied with the judgment of the arbitrators, notwithstanding the sentence of the Gov.-in-Council, March 7, 1738/9, "But Obstinate and Very Unjustly Keeps the said Brossard out of possession of Said Lands By him Purchased as Aforesaid as Appears by the said Arbitrators Report bearing the Date the 31st of October, 1738." These authorize "you," the Deputies of Piziquid, to put Brossard in possession of said lands immediately or at most within ten days from the time they receive this order. They are also to use their utmost endeavors to make Rivett pay costs to Brossard; "the said Dispute Occasioned by The Contempt of The Said Rivett as it Appears by the Report of The Arbitrators and Their Act of Submission." In case Rivett submits to the orders of the Govt. and he has any cause to bring forward, other than what has been already considered and decided on, he may produce them according to the letter sent herewith, after submitting to the present orders.<sup>2</sup>

Proclamation Regarding Romish Priests.

Preamble states that several missionary priests have "Encroached Upon the Allowance Given to the French Inhabitants" of this province, of the free exercise of their religion guaranteed by the fourteenth article of the Treaty of Utrecht: and that several irregularities have been and may be further committed by the said Missionary Priests. Gov.-in-Council think good to publish Art. 14. Quoted complete. The part of the Romish religion which is not allowed in Great Britain cannot be exercised here. Some of the priests "have taken upon themselves to Pronounce & may think themselves Authorized to Pronounce Excommunications Whereby to Deprive His Majesty's Subjects or Others under the Protection of this Government of all Manner of Assistance or means To Procure their Livelyhood." No Romish ecclesiastical jurisdiction can be exercised in this province; but all crimes of whatever nature can be punished only in H. M. courts. All missionary and other priests are forbidden by this proclamation to "Presume to Pronounce Or Cause to be Pronounced or Published any such Excommunication."

You might go a fishing in the Usual Manner as you Desired," they have carried their families to Tibogue and there built houses in order to settle, without permission, on Crown land. They are ordered to withdraw, and the usual rights of fishing and fowling for the support of their families will not be debarred.

Mascarene to St. Poncey.

As St. P. has resided so long in the province, he cannot be ignorant of its constitution, "considering the free Conversation you have all along entertained with the English," or of the repeated orders and proclamations regulating the calling of missionary priests. He must know that parishes must obtain the Governor's permission at Annapolis, before they can bring in a priest. "It is therefore deemed in you a high Piece of Contempt to go & take Possession of any Parish in any Part of the Province after having had your dismission from hence Obtained a Passport according to your request & your Repeated Protestations and Promises of desire of leaving it, & a Positive order not to Exercise your function in your Journey out of it nor can your Excuses be Reckoned other than evasions to cover an Intent of bringing trouble & Commotion in this Province wch may draw the Ruin of Those Inhabitants who Shall entertain & Support you therein." St. P. is ordered to leave the province and not to exercise his missionary function in any part of it.

Order to Deputies of Chignecto Regarding St. Poncey. [404

Preamble rehearses provisions of Art. 14 of the Treaty of Utrecht; habitans free to exercise their religion subject to the laws of G. B. "Notwithstanding the Rules and Methods frequently Prescribed & Published for their obtaining of Priests to Reside amongst them Several of their Districts or Parishes & Particularly that of Chiconecto have in contempt of all Said orders Applyd for Priests otherways than Directed & Receiv'd & Entertaind them." Government has certain knowledge and information of St. P.'s return from Louisbourg to Chignecto. Habitans of Chignecto and all others are "Strictly & Expressly orderd & Commanded" not to receive or harbour St. P.; nor permit him the use of "your Church." They are not to attend him in the exercise of his priestly office: but to cause him to quit the province, according to the enclosed order which they are to deliver to him, "& which you are expressly ordered to Comply with & to See duly Executed without any Evasion or Mental Reservation as you will answer at your Peril & Least the Consequence of your too often Repeated Disobedience a True Mark of Disrespect draw upon you & Such others who have or may act in the like Manner Signal Marks of his Majesty's high Displeasure." This to be published in the most authentic manner so that none may pretend ignorance.
